E-learning: Statistical Indicators for Environmental Policy in Africa

The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying the Global Campus 21 website. The URL is <http://gc21.inwent.org/ibt/login/GC21/area=module/main/de/style=myso/paint=myso/btn=i50/en/res=ib%253A%252Fdivision%252Fgc21%252Fsite%252Fmodules>. The page title is "Statistical Indicators for Environmental Policy in Africa 2007 - A blended training course -". The main content area features a map of Africa and the text "for our online sessions" and "and relevant documents". The left navigation menu includes sections for "People involved", "Exchange", and "Assessment". Red circles and arrows highlight the following items:

- People: Participants, Project Team, Team Earth, Team Fire, Team Sun, Team Wind
- Exchange: Chat, Discussion, Pinboard
- Self learning: Module 01, Module 02, Module 03 NEVI, Module 04, Module 05, Module 06, Self-Assessment

The taskbar at the bottom shows the Start button, several open applications (Posteingang - Micros..., Indien-Programm / E..., Tiefgaragenreinigung...), and the Internet Explorer browser window. The system clock shows 15:56 on 06/02/2007.

Measuring Governance

Governance Assessments have become more and more important in the last years with regard to political awareness, investment decisions and the distribution of development funds. This film gives an overview of the concept of governance and main assessment approaches in the fields of human rights, corruption, rule of law and democratic elections. Furthermore the film informs on the InWEnt training approach that is dedicated to enhance the national ownership of governance assessment processes.

- Main Content Area:
 - Welcome Uwe Singer: Welcome to the Environment Community Pages.
 - Environmental Statistics: In the last few years environmental statistics have gained worldwide importance and have already become a strategic instrument for the political decision process. Particularly the Millennium Declaration and the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) emphasize the need for monitoring country progress towards ensuring environmental sustainability until 2015. Due to the close interrelation between environment and sustainable development, environmental indicators are of particular interest for policymaking in Africa. This environmental statistics platform is dedicated to discussion, professional exchange and the sharing of knowledge amongst former InWEnt participants and other experts in this field.

Environment Statistics Activities 3: PR and Statistics

- Cross-cutting issue with relevance for Environmental Statistics
- Mutual Understanding between Users and producers of statistics
- Examples: Data Interpretation, Media Training

Further Developments

- Support National Implementation
- Enhance Cooperation with International and Regional Bodies
- Cover new fields within Environmental Statistics (Climate Change)

Thank you!
