Standardization of Geographical Names

New York, 21-30 August 2007

Item 13 of the provisional agenda*

Toponymic websitesToponymic websites in China*Submitted by ChinaSummary**

Toponymic organs at all levels established many geographical names websites. The websites in China play important roles in giving assistance to toponymic work, popularizing geographical names knowledge, and providing integral and correct geographical names information. The emphasis in further development of websites in China is on how to improve their functions and display their characteristics.
