2. Do you consider that the Guidelines takes due note of the difficulties faced by countries in the integrated collection, compilation and dissemination of economic statistics?

Yes No No comment

Comment:

Very difficult is the coordination role, especially in the field of administrative data sources, where coordination possibilities are very limited.

3. Were there any aspects of integration which you feel have not been sufficiently well-covered?

Yes No No comment

Comment:

More detailed focus on integration of National accounts and other economic statistics would be useful.

When using administrative data, there is a lot of trouble with time coherence, availability in necessary terms and with their quality. How to deal with this - is there some case study for it?

Statistical units - how to work with multinational companies, how to ascertain the real production in context of the economic territory of the country?

4. Do you find the case studies useful and practical?

Yes No No comment

Comment:

Centralised integration system for national accounts in the Netherlands.

5. Would you like to make or seek any specific elaborations in Chapter 1 to Chapter 7 or in the Annexes?
