

Holding companies

The ISWGNA agreed that, by convention, head offices of financial corporations are to be treated as financial auxiliaries in the SNA. If a head office has several subsidiaries, some of which are financial corporations and some are non-financial corporations, the head office is allocated to the sector to which most of the subsidiaries are allocated or most of their production is allocated.