

Manual on sources and methods for the compilation of ESA95 financial accounts - Eurostat (2002)

The "Manual on sources and methods for the compilation of ESA95 financial accounts" is a compilation of the methodological work achieved and it gives a comprehensive description of the new national sources and methodologies. From the beginning of the project the decision was taken to include not only the Member States of the European Union but also Norway and Candidate Countries. The contributors to this wide-ranging descriptive and methodological work believe that the Manual will provide assistance and support to compilers and analysts of financial accounts.
