ANZSIC Division A Agriculture, Forestry and Fishing

ANZSIC Division A Agriculture, Forestry and Fishing is mainly in ISIC Section A Agriculture, Forestry and Fishing. ISIC differs from ANZSIC mainly in relation to how agricultural industries are broken down at the ISIC 3 digit Group level e.g. perennial and non-perennial. ANZSIC's breakdown is based on the Australian and NZ economy and the importance of these industries therefore has more industries identified at the ANZSIC 2 digit sub-division level resulting in more classes at lower levels.

ANZSIC 06 Subdivision Support services to agriculture, forestry and fishing don't get their own subdivision in ISIC but they do in ANZSIC 06.

ISIC Section A activities not in ANZSIC Division A:

- Forest fire fighting is classified to ANZSIC Class 7713 Fire Protection and Other Emergency Services
- Forest Management is classified to ANZSIC Class 6962 Management Advice and Related Consulting Services

Broad structural comparison:

ANZSIC 2006	Revised ISIC
A Agriculture, Forestry and Fishing 01 Agriculture 02 Aquaculture 03 Forestry and Logging 04 Fishing, Hunting and Trapping 05 Agriculture, Forestry and Fishing Support Services	A Agriculture, forestry and fishing 01 Crop and animal production, hunting and related service activities 02 Forestry and logging 03 Fishing and aquaculture

ANZSIC Division B Mining

ANZSIC Division B Mining is mainly in ISIC Section B Mining and Quarrying. ISIC differs from ANZSIC mainly in relation to how mining industries are broken down at the class level. ANZSIC's breakdown is based on the importance of the mining industry in Australia and New Zealand, therefore has more industries identified.

A significant difference at class level relates to liquification of Natural Gas. ISIC either puts this activity in in ISIC Group 091 Support activities for petroleum and natural gas extraction or Class 5221 Service activities incidental to land transportation depending on whether it is done at the mine site or not. ANZSIC doesn't distinguish the difference and classifies LNG production to ANZSIC Subdivision 07 Oil and Gas Extraction.

ISIC Section B activities not in ANZSIC Division B:

- Mineral grading is classified to ANZSIC Class 6999 Other Professional, Scientific and Technical Services
- Oil and gas field firefighting services is classified to ANZSIC Class 7713 Fire Protection and Other Emergency Services

Broad structural comparison:

ANZSIC Division C Manufacturing

ANZSIC Division C Manufacturing is mainly in ISIC Section C Manufacturing. Manufacturing in ISIC follows the same premise as ANZSIC. Manufacturing involves transformation of goods into new products. ISIC incorporates a different more detailed breakdown and also includes other additional activities i.e. extra repair and installation services relating to capital (only) goods (ISIC Division 33). Other minor differences relate to the scope of manufacturing in ISIC, which excludes production of compost (treatment of waste) and ship breaking (materials recovery). ANZSIC treats these activities as manufacturing.

ISIC Section C activities not in ANZSIC Division C:

- Repair of fabricated metal products, machinery and equipment, depending on the product, maybe classified to ANZSIC Subdivision 94 Repair and Maintenance
- Installation of industrial machinery and equipment will be classified to either ANZSIC Division E Construction or ANZSIC Class 7000 Computer System Design and Related Services
- Engraving for security purposes is classified to ANZSIC Class 7712 Investigation and Security Services.

ANZSIC Division C activities not in ISIC Section C:

- Ship breaking is classified to ISIC Class 3830 Materials recovery
- Operation of compost dumps is classified to ISIC Class 3821 Treatment and disposal of non-hazardous waste
- Manufacturing and installing construction products are classified to ISIC Section F Construction

Repair activities

ANZSIC identifies some equipment repair activities in manufacturing if they are carried out in a similar way to manufacturing the good (e.g. ships, locomotives and aircraft). Other repairs are in Construction or Other services divisions.

ISIC takes the approach that goods can either be capital (business related) or consumer (household) goods. Repair of capital goods (e.g. transport equipment excluding motor vehicles, industrial machinery and equipment) is classified in the ISIC Section C Manufacturing and Repair of consumer goods (e.g. footwear and household appliances) is in ISIC Section T Other service activities. If the good is both a capital and consumer good (e.g. motor vehicles, computers and printers) its repair is classified to the Section T Other service activities.

Installation activities

The installation of machinery and equipment, when carried out as a specialized activity, is classified in ISIC class 3320 Installation of industrial machinery and equipment. These activities in ANZSIC are mainly in the construction industry except for specialised computer/mainframe installation which belongs in ANZSIC Class 7000 Computer System Design and Related Services

Potential Change to scope of revised ISIC to be discussed if we adopt:

Treatment of Factoryless Goods Producers (FGP) or converters

Units that arrange the manufacture of their products by another unit, paying the sub-contracted unit a commission, are referred to internationally as 'converters' or factoryless goods producers (FGP). In ANZSIC and ISIC rev 4 the criteria to classify converters is:

- units that own the material inputs and own the final outputs, but have the production done by others, are classified to the manufacturing division; and
- units that do not own the material inputs but own the final outputs and have the production done by others, are not classified to the manufacturing division. They are classified either as a wholesaler or a retailer.

The units are classified according to the predominant good produced whether they are arranging the manufacturing or carrying out the physical manufacturing.

The ISIC review has agreed the criteria to define FGPs is to be changed as ownership of the material inputs is no longer required, though they do require significant control of the process and ownership of intellectual property. (Criteria still under discussion)

The impact of this change will potentially mean some previously classified wholesaling and retailing units maybe classified in manufacturing. Noting the extent of the shift will be hard to quantify at the moment as these units have not been identified in Australia's economy but they may impact any of the manufacturing classes.

Note: Australia did not agree with the change to the treatment of FGPs when endorsed.

ANZSIC Division D Electricity, Gas, Water and Waste Services

ANZSIC Division D Electricity, Gas, Water and Waste Services is split across three sections in ISIC Sections: D Electricity, Gas, Steam and Air Conditioning Supply, E Water Supply; Sewage, Waste Management and Remediation and H Transport and Storage.

Major differences for ISIC in relation to ANZSIC relate to the structure of the classification and the different breakdowns of activities at the one and two digit level.

ISIC Section D and E activities not in ANZSIC Division D:

- Ship breaking is classified to ANZSIC Class 2391 Shipbuilding and Repair Services
- Operation of compost dumps is classified to ANZSIC Class 1831 Fertiliser Manufacturing

ANZSIC Division D activities not in ISIC Section D and E:

- Transportation of water by pipeline is classified to ISIC Class 4930 Transport via pipeline

ANZSIC Division E Construction

ANZSIC Division E Construction is mainly in ISIC Section F Construction.

Differences for ISIC in relation to ANZSIC relate to the structure of the classification. Other differences relate to installation of machinery and equipment, land subdivision and landscape care.

ISIC Section F activities not in ANZSIC Division E:

- Manufacturing and installing construction materials is classified to relevant classes in ANZSIC Division C Manufacturing
- Cleaning of new buildings after construction is classified to ANZSIC Class 7311 Building and Other Industrial Cleaning Services
- Maintenance and repair of equipment like escalators is classified to ANZSIC Class 9429 Other Machinery and Equipment Repair and Maintenance

ANZSIC Division E activities not in ISIC Section F:

- Installation of machinery and equipment is classified to ISIC Class 3320 Installation of industrial machinery and equipment
- Subdividing real estate into lots, without land improvement is classified to ISIC Class 6810 Real estate activities with own or leased property
- Landscape care and maintenance is classified to ISIC Class 8130 Landscape care and maintenance service activities

ANZSIC Division F Wholesale trade

ANZSIC Division F Wholesale trade is contained within ISIC Section G Wholesale and Retail trade – ISIC Division 46 Wholesale trade, noting some units may move to manufacturing if the FGP treatment is adopted.

Differences for ISIC in relation to ANZSIC relate to the structure of the classification. At the highest level, ISIC combines Wholesale and Retail trade at the section level and the distinction is made at the two digit level. Other differences relate to the groupings of activities and number of classes with ANZSIC having more detail.

ANZSIC Division F activities not in ISIC Section G:

- Auction houses (retail) are classified in ISIC class 4774 Retail sale of second-hand goods
- Independent Auctioneers are classified to ISIC class 8299 Other business support service activities n.e.c.

Broad structural comparison:

36 Grocery, Liquor and Tobacco Product Wholesaling	464 Wholesale of household goods (change in scope to include office furniture)
37 Other Goods Wholesaling	465 Wholesale of machinery, equipment, and supplies (change in scope to exclude office furniture)
38 Commission-Based Wholesaling	466 Wholesale of motor vehicles, motorcycles and related parts and accessories
	467 Other specialized wholesale
	469 Non-specialized wholesale trade

ANZSIC Division G Retail

ANZSIC Division G Retail trade is contained within ISIC Section G Wholesale and Retail trade - ISIC Division 47 Retail trade.

Differences for ISIC in relation to ANZSIC relate to the structure of the classification. ISIC combines Wholesale and Retail trade at the section level and the distinction is made at the two digit ISIC division level. Other differences relate to the groupings of activities and number of classes with ANZSIC having more detail.

The major difference is sales channels are not a classification criterion in ISIC. Internet, direct marketing, vending machines, food van or market stall sales etc. (i.e. non-store based retailing) are classified with the corresponding store based sales.

ISIC Section G activities not in ANZSIC Division G:

- Auction Houses are classified in ANZSIC Class 3800 Commission-Based Wholesaling

ANZSIC Division G activities not in ISIC Section G:

- Pawn brokers are classified in ISIC Class 6492 Other credit granting

	479 Intermediation services ¹ for retail trade

¹ Non-financial intermediation service activities are activities that facilitate transactions between buyers and sellers for the ordering and/or delivering of goods and services for a fee or commission, without supplying and taking ownership of the goods and services that are intermediated. These activities can be carried out on digital platforms or through non-digital channels. The fee or commission can be received directly from either the buyers or sellers, or revenues for intermediation activities can include other sources of income, such as third-party revenues from advertising.

ANZSIC Division H Accommodation and Food services

ANZSIC Division H Accommodation and Food services is contained in ISIC Section I Accommodation and food service. The differences being the breakdown of activities and has the addition of *intermediation services*¹ for accommodation (ISIC Group 559) and food services (ISIC Group 569) .

ISIC Section I activities not in ANZSIC Division H:

- Meals on wheels as a food service is classified in ANZSIC Class 8790 Other Social Assistance Services

ANZSIC Division I Transport, Postal and Warehousing

ANZSIC Division I Transport, Postal and Warehousing is mainly contained in ISIC Section H Transportation and storage with main difference being the structure and not separate identification of scenic and sightseeing activities. Intermediary services¹ have been separated for passenger transport (ISIC Group 523), freight transport (ISIC Group 523) and postal and courier activities (ISIC Group 533).

ISIC Section H activities not in ANZSIC Division I:

- The treatment of liquification of natural gas (not at mine site) for transportation. ANZSIC treats LNG production as mining activity in ANZSIC Class 700 Oil and Gas Extraction while ISIC classifies it in ISIC Class 5221 Service activities incidental to land transportation.

ANZSIC Division I activities not in ISIC Section H:

- Mailbox rental is classified in ISIC Class 8219 Photocopying, document preparation and other specialized office support activities
- Separate identification of intermediation services¹ for passenger transport (ISIC Group 523), freight transport (ISIC Group 523) and postal and courier activities (ISIC Group 533)^a.

ANZSIC Division J Information Media and Telecommunications

ANZSIC Division J Information Media and Telecommunications is mainly contained in ISIC Sections J Publishing, broadcasting, and content production and distribution activities and K Telecommunications, computer programming, consultancy, computing infrastructure, and other information service activities with main difference being the structure. ISIC includes computer system design, software development and related services, has no separate internet publishing broadcasting activities, has less detail in telecommunications and more detail in software publishing and development activities (Software development and Software publishing separate video game related services) and Internet service providers are treated as telecommunication providers.

ISIC Section J or K activities not in ANZSIC Division K:

- Section K (Subdivision 62 and 63) includes the activities of computer system design, software development and related services which is classified in ANZSIC Division M Professional, Scientific and Technical Services in Class 7000 Computer system design and related services

ANZSIC Division J activities not in ISIC Section J or K:

- Libraries and Archives classified in ISIC Class 9101 Library and archives activities
- Microfiche and microfilm recording and imaging is classified with ISIC Class 7420 Photographic activities.

ANZSIC Division L Renting, Hiring and Real Estate Services

ANZSIC Division L Renting, Hiring and Real Estate Services is split across ISIC Sections:

- M Real estate activities
- N Administrative and support service activities – Division 77 Rental and leasing activities for non-real estate related renting

There are also several structural differences within these sections

ANZSIC Division L activities not in ISIC Section M or N:

- Subdividing real estate (land) into lots is classified as construction in ANZSIC
- Property management for body Corporate and Strata Plan i.e. provision of a combination of support services within a client’s facility are treated as real estate activities in ANZSIC and have their own class in ISIC Class 8110 Combined facilities support activities

ANZSIC Division N Administrative and Support Services

ANZSIC Division N Administrative and Support Services is mainly contained in ISIC Section O (previously N) Administrative and support service activities except for some scope differences. The other major difference is ISIC Section O contains Renting, hiring and leasing activities other than real estate which is contained in ANZSIC Division L. There are also other structural differences.

ISIC Section O activities not in ANZSIC Division N:

- Some landscape care maintenance activities are classified in ANZSIC Class 3291 Landscape Construction Services
- Security and investigation activities are classified in ANZSIC Class 7712 Investigation and Security Services

ANZSIC Division N activities not in ISIC Section O:

- Casting agents are classified to ISIC Class 7490 Other professional, scientific and technical activities n.e.c.
- Operation of facilities and provision of services to meet the cultural and entertainment interests i.e. event management, promotion of arts etc. are classified to ISIC Class 9000 Creative, arts and entertainment activities
- Activities of producers or promoters of sports events, with or without facilities are classified to ISIC Class 9319 Other sports activities
- Activities of producers or entrepreneurs of live events other than arts or sports events, with or without facilities are classified to ISIC Class 9329 Other amusement and recreation activities n.e.c.
