Abstract

This presentation will shortly go through the SDGs from the gender point of view. It will cover what Finland has done to implement the Agenda 2030, both domestically and in its development policy. It will then focus on some of areas where Finland has something to offer what comes to the implementation of the SDGs, e.g. education, climate change, women's economic empowerment and poverty reduction, women in political life. Then challenges such as violence against women, women in conflicts and emergency situations, lack of sexual and reproductive health and rights will be covered.
