TOPONYMIC GUIDELINES FOR MAP AND OTHER EDITORS

HUNGARY

3rd EDITION

Updated May 2002

A. LANGUAGES

Hungarian is the only nation-wide official language in Hungary. Minority languages have only local importance, but minority toponyms are shown on some type of maps (see under item A.5, Minority languages). Hungarian is written in the Roman alphabet with the addition of diacritical marks for vowels, and character combinations for consonants as against the original Roman alphabet.

1. Hungarian alphabet

The alphabet is given here showing the sound represented by each character or combination of characters with the help of the IPA phonetic alphabet.

1. A a Á á [a, a]	14. J j [j]	27. Sz sz [s]
2. B b [b]	15. K k [k]	28. T t [t]
3. C c [ts]	16. L l [l]	29. Ty ty [tj]
4. Cs cs [tʃ]	17. Ly ly [j]	30. U u, Ú ú [u, u:]
5. D d [d]	18. M m [m]	31. Ü ü, Ű ű [y, y:]
6. Dz, dz [dz]	19. N n [n]	32. V v [v]
7. Dzs, dzs [dʒ]	20. Ny ny [nj]	33. *W w [v]
8. E e, É é [ɛ, e:]	21. O o, Ó ó [o, o:]	34. *X x [ks]
9. F f [f]	22. Ö ö, Ő ő [ø, ø:]	35. *Y y [i]
10. G g [g]	23. P p [p]	36. Z z [z]
11. Gy gy [j]	24. *Q q [k]	37. Zs zs [ʒ]
12. H h [h]	25. R r [r]
13. I I, Í í [i, i:]	26. S s [ʃ]

Other letters considered as obsolete, occur in traditional family names, and in very few cases, in place names

aa [a:]	eö [ø]	th [t]
ch [tʃ]	ew [ø]	ts [tʃ]
cz [ts]	oó [o:]
eé [e:]	s [s]

Long consonants are doubled. Doubling of digraphs and the trigraph is carried out only for the first character. Therefore, long consonants originating from single characters become digraphs, those from digraphs become trigraph, and the trigraph becomes a tetragraph. Long consonants are as follows: bb, cc, ccs, dd, ddz, ddzs, ff, gg, ggy (its obsolete, traditional form: dgy), hh, jj, kk, ll, lly, mm, nn, nny, pp, rr, ss, ssz, tt, tty, vv, yy, zzs.

2. Alphabetic sequence

The alphabetic sequence of Hungarian words and names usually follows the above table where each of the 37 unit is considered as an independent letter, while short and long pairs represent only one and the same sequential element. Double consonants always follow the short ones. Some examples:

Balaton	Cibakháza	Zákány
Bálvány	Concó	Zala
Bana	Cuha	Zubogy
Bánfa	Csabacsűd	Zsadány
Baracs	Csákvár	Zsédény
etc.	etc.	etc.

* occurs in foreign words, in names originating from other languages, or in traditional family names.

3. Spelling rules of Hungarian geographical names

The rules summarized here, were adopted by the Hungarian Academy of Sciences, and published in A magyar helyesírás szabályai, 11. kiadás (Rules of Hungarian orthography, 11th edition, first printed in 1984).

a) The first or only word of geographical names is always capitalized.

b) Geographical names consisting of two or more words (elements) are written together in case of – short names of countries where the last element is -ország (=country), e.g. Magyarország, Franciaország, etc.

– compound names of physical and ethnic regions, e.g. Dunántúl, Kisalföld, Nagyunság etc.

– names without a generic term and an attribute of geographical character, e.g. Kőember, Széplány, Nekaszáld, etc.

– names of cities and towns, communes (villages), their inhabited parts, and usually, names of all inhabited places irrespective of their constituent words, e.g. Hódmezővásárhely, Nagyút, Sárospatak, Újfehértó, Alsóbélatelep, Feketebokormajor, Alsókirálytanya, etc.

c) Geographical names consisting of two or more words (elements) are hyphenized (with the exception of names of large physical and ethnic regions, of streets, of cities, towns, communes and of their parts).

– names containing a final generic term, where the generic term has an initial lower case character, e.g. Arany-patak, Diós-völgy, Első-tábla, Csepel-sziget, János-hegy etc. Most of the geographical names fall into this category.

Remark: the term attribute of geographical character refers to words like alsó (=lower), felső (=upper), nagy (=great), kis (=little), etc.

– names consisting of a final word other than a generic term, being capitalized, and having an initial attribute of geographic character, e.g. Alsó-Lóverek, Felső-Figura, Kis-Erebe, Nagy-Patkó, Holt-Tisza, etc.

– names being the combination of the previous two categories, e.g. Rohonci-Arany-patak, Alsó-Diós-völgy, Kis-Hosszú-dűlő, Ér-tói-rét, Forgács-tagi-dűlő, Hosszú-szigeti-dűlő, Holt-Tiszai-csatorna, etc. The second word of such names is either capitalized or written with a lower case initial.

– names which consist of two or more geographical names used also independently, where the capitalization of the second or third word is preserved, e.g. Kál-Kápolna, Érd-Ófalu, Hajdú-Bihar, Borsod-Abauj-Zemplén etc.

d) Geographical names consisting of two or more words (elements) are written separated in case of – full (or official) names of countries, where all words are capitalized: Magyar Köztársaság, Német Szövetségi Köztársaság, Sri Lanka Demokratikus Szocialista Köztársaság, etc.

– names of administrative regions only with respect to the final generic term, e.g. Baranya megye, Heves megye, Jász-Nagykun-Szolnok megye etc.

– names designating streets, roads, avenues, squares, only with respect to the final generic term, e.g. Üllői út, Váci utca, Margit körút, Andrássy út, Bajcsy-Zsilinszky út, etc.

– names containing an accusative ending, a postposition, a possessive or adverbial suffix, where the second or last word is written in lower case initial, e.g. Keveset érő, Rétek alatt, Urak asztala, Pozsonyiné kertje, Duna mente, Székre járó, Rétre dűlő etc.

e) Geographical names are sometimes combined of the types described in the previous paragraphs, e.g. Dél-afrikai Köztársaság, Józsefhegyi út, etc.

4. Dialects

Hungarian dialects represent no significant differences as compared to each other or to the standard language. Six so-called dialect types are represented inside Hungary: Western, Transdanubian, Southern, Tiszai (the central part of the Lowland), Palóc (part of North West), and North Eastern.

There are two rules followed in using dialect geographical names. According to the first one, dialect forms are preserved also in the standardized geographical names. This applies to dialect words unknown to, or known with different meaning in the standard language, as well as in the case of dialect forms representing a rather strong and unusual deviation as compared to the standard language. Sporadic dialect phenomena not characteristic to the area of the dialect type are also preserved.

On the other hand, in applying the second rule, dialect geographical names are modified according to the standard language. This method is applied in cases where the dialect forms reflect a widely known general trend, and they are characteristic to a given area.

5. Minority languages

According to §. 61, Act LXXVII/1993. on the rights of national and ethnic minorities, the following minorities are acknowledged in Hungary: Armenian, Bulgarian, Croatian, German, Gipsy, Greek, Polish, Romanian, Ruthenian, Serbian, Slovak, Slovene, and Ukrainian. Though no recent research has been made on the impact of minority languages on geographical names, it can be still stated that only Croatian, German, and Slovak may appear in a considerable number on detailed topographic maps.

As to the use of minority languages, the introductory text of the Law cited above, contains the following statement: "The language, material and intellectual culture, historical traditions as well as other characteristics of minorities living on the territory of the Republic of Hungary, and having Hungarian citizenship, are parts of their individual as well as their common self-identity. All these are of special worth, their preservation, care-taking, and enrichment is not only the fundamental right of the national and ethnic minorities, but it is also the interest of the Hungarian nation, and ultimately of all states, of the community of nations." Another item, § 53 of the same Act gives the following rule:

"The local government, according to the requirements of the local minority representative body acting in the area under the competency of that government, must ensure that "names of cities, towns, and villages on sign-posts, names on street-plates, names of institutions as well as statements on their activities on tables showing offices that provide public services, should be read also in the mother tongue of the minority, beside the Hungarian text, with the same content, and in the same form."

A more detailed regulation can be found in § 6 of Gov. Decree No. 71/1989. (modified by Gov. Decree No. 19/1992): "...(4) A minority language name can also be established based on the rules given in the previous point (1). A minority language name for features belonging to point a), and d) to h), § 3, can be established parallel with the Hungarian name." This means that in case of names of the relief and regions, names of nature reserves, names of the transport and communication, names of built-up areas of cities and communes, names of outskirt settlements, and street names only parallel minority language names can be applied. In all other types of geographical names a single minority language name can be given as an official name. It should be noted that administrative names are decided upon separate orders, which do not mention the possibility of single or parallel official minority language names. However, minority names of cities, towns, and villages can be found on sign-posts all over country (see the above citation from § 53, Act LXXVII/1993). A list of these minority place names are given in the 1995 Place Name Gazetteer.

Minority language geographical names appear on the present topographical and other large scale maps, written in the Hungarian alphabet. Preparations have been made to change minority geographical names into the respective orthography. Difficulties arise from the fact that some minorities use the names in a dialect form, while in most cases standard forms are required.

B. NAMES AUTHORITIES AND NAMES STANDARDIZATION

1. Administrative names

As to names of communes, towns, and cities, decisions are made by the President of the Republic, as to names of counties, by the Parliament. The standardized form of this group of names is regularly published by the Central Statistical Office, and can be ordered at the following address:

KSH Népszámlálás (Population Census, Central Statistical Office)
H-1518 Budapest
POB 163

2. Other names

As to other geographical names, responsibility is split between the local governments (street names, names of the parts of cities, towns and communes, including the names of outskirt settlements), and the Committee on Geographical Names = Földrajzinév-bizottság (all other names). The Committee is an inter-ministerial body situated in the Ministry of Agriculture and Regional Development at the following address:

Földrajzinév-bizottság
Földművelésügyi és Vidékfejlesztési Minisztérium
H-1860 Budapest 55, P.O. Box 1.
bela.pokoly@fvm.hu
erfoldi@hotmail.com

Registration and maintenance of standardized geographical names is carried out in the Institute of Geodesy, Cartography and Remote Sensing. Its address:

Földmérési és Távérzékelési Intézet
XIV. Bosnyák tér 5.
Postal address: H-1373 Budapest
P.O.B. 546
Web site: www.fomi.hu

Also in the framework of this Institute, the Database Gazetteer of Hungary (FNT) is under development, containing 105 000 records. See under C. Source materials, point 3.

C. SOURCE MATERIALS

1. A Magyar Köztársaság helységnévtára (Gazetteer of Inhabited Places of the Republic of Hungary) 1995. Statisztikai Kiadó Vállalat. Budapest, 1995.

Contains the names of communes towns, cities as well as smaller inhabited places with population, area and other data as of 1990. As to names inside cities, towns and communes, this is the most recent source available at present.

2. A Magyar Köztársaság helységnévkönyve 2001. január 1. /Gazetteer of the Republic of Hungary, 1st January, 2001 Központi Statisztikai Hivatal/ Hungarian Central Statistical Office. Budapest, 2001.

Bilingual Hungarian-English publication. Contains summary data on different type of administration, detailed data of localities, changes in regional structuring, etc. Only the names of cities, towns, and villages are given without outskirt settlements. Contains a list of minority self-governments by counties but data on the number of minority population are not given.

More information: <http://www.ksh.hu> with English language option by clicking on the British flag in the upper right corner.

3. Database Gazetteer of Hungary (FNT)

This information is based on the <http://fish.fomi.hu/> website, where the database can be found by using the English language option, by clicking on the British flag on the left margin, then Products/Databases/FNT.

The FNT contains the names of settlements, parts of the settlement, the landscape, large units of the land, woods, nature conservation areas, relief and hydrography, names of remarked points (ruin, look out tower etc.) as well as the names of the most important objects of traffic. The database contains 39 types of geographical names.

In the record of a name the position of the geographical object is determined by the name of the county and settlement in which the object lies, as well as by its EOVS (Uniform National Projection System) and/or geographical co-ordinates. Data elements in the record include the type of the object (hill, lake, cave etc., altogether 39 types), the name variants and their sources, the number of the inhabitants, elevation etc. In the “remarks” field there are references to administrative changes and administrative situation, to the extension of the named object to another settlement, etc.

By its content the database is structured by settlements, which means, that a geographical object - extending over more settlements – can be found as many times as the number of the settlements. As a consequence of this structure, there is no hierarchy between the records

The database has two versions. The first one (FNT1) corresponds in quantity of names approximately to the scale 1:40,000. This database was produced by the use of 300 sources (maps, geographical literature, economical, statistical sources), and each municipalities had the chance to complete, modify the database reflecting the local use of name. FNT1 covers the whole territory of Hungary, and changes are continuously updated..

FNT2 corresponds in quantity and in the types of names used roughly to the topographic map scale 1:10,000, its readiness is 35%. It covers the names of the database FNT1 with additions taken from large scale topographical maps, cadastral maps, and other sources. Names are also gathered on the respective settlement in coordination with local inhabitants, the employees of the municipalities, field or wood companies etc.

The two parts of the database comprise 105,000 records.
