Document submitted by Cuba

Summary

The document contains a brief explanation of the composition of the national body of the Republic of Cuba responsible for the standardization of geographical names.

It explains that the National Committee is a permanent body which reports to the Council of Ministers and is presided over by the Instituto Cubano de Geodesía y Cartografía (Cuban Institute of Geodesy and Cartography) and that, in addition to the National Committee, there are permanent working groups and ad hoc Working Groups are set up as necessary.

The document points out further, that the work of the National Committee is co-ordinated with the activities of the specialized technical groups of the provinces and the work of the latter with the activities of municipalities.
