

Goods sent abroad for processing

The AEG agreed that the current situation is undesirable. There was a clear majority for never imputing a change of ownership for goods being sent abroad for processing. The same approach of not imputing change of ownership for goods being processed domestically should be adopted in all cases even if it is between related enterprises.