TURKEY COMMENT:

First of all, we would like to thank the accomplishments on the crime classification until now.

International Classification of Crime for Statistical Purposes is an important step to understand concept of crime at national and international level.

At the end of the road map, we will have a strong measure in order to improve policy of precaution of crime at national and international level.

In this regard, we agree the road map of the implementation plan of ICCS.

In addition to the activities in the road map, it will be useful to create a platform on UN web site so called social forum structure to discuss all issues from problems to solutions of the ICCS like country experiences, methodological process. This platform also will give countries a chance to communicate among each other.

We support the creation of the Technical Advisory Group and we are willing to participate in this group.

Thank you.
