

Second Housing Sprint Webinar
Innovative Methods and Practices for Developing Housing Statistics
Online, 7:00 am -9:30 am, 23 October2024, New York time

Panel discussion questions

1. How can national statistical offices (NSOs) effectively incorporate emerging data sources—such as administrative records, web scraping, and satellite imagery—into housing statistics? How can a conceptual framework support this integration?
2. How can international collaboration help NSOs, international organizations and civil society actors overcome resource constraints and skill gaps in developing housing statistics? What other barriers exist for the development of integrated approaches?
3. Are there any key aspects or topics that have been overlooked in discussions about housing frameworks?
4. What strategies can we employ to create a housing framework that remains relevant into the future in the face of rapidly advancing technologies?
