6. National and international standardization of geographical names

(a) Names collection, office treatment, national authorities, features beyond a single sovereignty and international cooperation

Presentations and discussion will focus on best practices, new approaches, problems faced and possible solutions with regard to achieving national standardization of geographical names. The topic is broad in scope and includes: methods of names collection (field collection, archival sourcing, crowdsourcing, postal surveys, submissions from the general public, etc.); treatment of names in the office (approaches to resolving duplication, name changes, merging of administrative units, commemorative naming, multiple naming and diverse languages and populations, street naming, etc.); legislation, policies and guidelines for names authorities (laws, board structures, principles, programme planning, extent of mandates, relationships of various naming bodies, etc.); names for particular purposes (hydrology, mountain areas, etc.) or standardization requirements of particular user groups (education, emergency operations, different levels of government, etc.). In addition, names of features beyond a single sovereignty are included, as well as items relating to international cooperation on geographical names standardization.

7. Social and economic benefits, supporting sustainable development, measures taken and proposed for the implementation of resolutions

The Group of Experts will address the implementation of tasks assigned pursuant to the resolutions adopted by the former United Nations Conferences on the Standardization of Geographical Names and by the recommendations and decisions of the current Group of Experts on Geographical Names. Under the agenda item, presentations and discussions will focus on measures to implement the resolutions, as well as experiences in implementing them, within the context of the Group of Experts or at the country level. The discussions on implementing the resolutions and recommendations are expected to lead to further developments by creating social and economic benefits and supporting the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. Discussion will also be held with regard to the functioning and efficacy of the Group, including to look at the need for developing countries to achieve national standardization of their geographical names and to increase the effectiveness of meetings and subsidiary bodies of the Group.

11. Toponymic terminology

The Working Group on Toponymic Terminology was formed in 1989. It is responsible for preparing a glossary of toponymic terminology, reviewing updates to the glossary and establishing a functioning terminology database. There have been several editions of the Glossary of Terms for the Standardization of Geographical Names, the most recent of which was issued in 2002. At the Ninth United Nations Conference on the Standardization of Geographical Names, held in New York in 2007, an addendum to the Glossary was approved.

The Group of Experts will have before it the report of the Working Group. In its report, the Working Group highlights its work in reviewing updates to the toponymic terminology glossary and establishing a functioning terminology database. The Group of Experts will also have before it relevant reports prepared by experts from across the divisions of the Group of Experts. The Group of Experts is invited to adopt the report of the Working Group and to provide guidance on the next phase of its work.

12. Geographical names as culture, heritage and identity, including Indigenous, minority and regional languages and multilingual issues

The Working Group on Geographical Names as Cultural Heritage was established in response to resolution VIII/1 of the Eighth United Nations Conference on the Standardization of Geographical Names, held in Berlin in 2002. It was formerly known as the Working Group on the Promotion of Indigenous and Minority Group Place Names.

The aim of the Working Group is to oversee activities relating to the promotion of Indigenous and minority geographical names to pursue the retention/revitalization of minority and Indigenous group culture. The Working Group serves to bring a focus to the relationship between place names and cultural heritage and to assist countries in developing appropriate processes to ensure that the relationship is maintained. The Group of Experts will also have before it relevant reports prepared by experts from across the divisions of the Group of Experts related to the topic. The Group of Experts is invited to provide guidance on the operations and work programme of the Working Group.
