

World Statistics Day in Costa Rica

The Nacional Institute for Statistics and Censuses in Costa Rica, in collaboration with the University of Costa Rica and the United Nations, will organize the following activity to celebrate the upcoming World Statistics Day on October 20.

17 institutions from the Nacional Statistical System will participate in an event where they will showcase their main statistical products and services. Seminars and discussions on the use of statistics in Costa Rica will be held as well.

Costa Rica, 19 October 2010