

WORLD STATISTICS DAY CELEBRATION IN THE CZECH REPUBLIC

The CZSO warmly welcomes this initiative and will join the World Statistics Day Celebration on 20 October 2010. To celebrate this event the CZSO plans:

- to inform stakeholders and public through publishing various information regarding this event in statistics oriented journals and at the Office's website
- to inform the general public by different media and by publishing a press release on this day
- to publish special essays in statistics oriented journals (especially regarding the history and the future of the demographic statistics, especially the Censuses)
- to prepare an open-doors day in headquarters and in Regional Statistical Offices (including presentation of CZSO's activities focusing on services provided to the public and on dissemination)
- to organize a high-level seminar for stakeholders with guests invited from academic community and other institutions (within the national statistical system) involved in production of statistics on 20 October 2010
- to organize a workshop on standardization as a tool of increasing the quality and consistency of statistical data, and a workshop on the main register of legal and natural persons and public bodies and statistical registers (as a part of the new project of rebuilding administrative registers in the Czech Republic within eGovernment activities)
