

WORLD STATISTICS DAY CELEBRATION IN PUERTO RICO

Puerto Rico is joining the World Statistic Day celebration, having a one day event organized by the Puerto Rico Institute of Statistics. On October 20, 2010, the institute will host a conference with 300 participants, including public, private, nonprofit, academic, and student sectors. This event will comprise conferences, presentations of statistical achievements, concurrent sessions, and promotional booths.

In particular, the conference will include seminars and workshops on:

- Project management
- Surveys
- GIS
- Statistical report writing
- Bio-Pharmaceutical industry statistics
- Statistical needs of NGOs
- Gender statistics
- Municipal statistics
- The use of statistics in the media

The event will include an exhibition, a raffle and other activities.

27 August 2010